PolyCello recognized for print quality award

Amherst, N.S. – For the seventh consecutive year, PolyCello has been recognized by the Flexographic Technical Association (FTA) for printing excellence. The gold award winning package was printed for a Canadian pet food company.

“We are honoured to be recognized again by the FTA,” said Stephen Emmerson, president and CEO of PolyCello. “This award shows the high caliber of our product due to the expertise of our employees and our equipment.”

The Excellence in Flexography award was presented April 27th at the 2014 FFTA Annual Forum & INFO*FLEXO Exhibition in Baltimore, MD.

“Flexographic printing is a very complex process, to be consistently recognized for our print quality speaks directly to our prepress and printing teams.” said Jeff Hatfield, printing manager at PolyCello.

PolyCello is a family-owned and operated company headquartered in Amherst, Nova Scotia, with a second production facility in Belleville, Ontario. PolyCello is a Gold Standard member of Canada’s Best Managed Companies and one of 2014’s Top Employers for Atlantic Canada. With over 50 years of history, PolyCello has earned a reputation as an expert manufacturer and high-quality printer and converter of flexible packaging.
